

Presents
One Day workshop on
Out-of-the-Box Thinking

Event Highlight

An ever-changing world constantly throws up new challenges, to surmount which, the old ways are inadequate. And new challenges call for new ways of tackling them and at the heart of this lies fresh thinking. However, to think up creative ways to tackle challenges and to 'Do the new', is easier said than done. This need for out-of-the-box thinking is being felt across all levels of the organizations and across functions, this workshop has been designed to spotlight ways in which everyone can think out of the box. Because creative thinking is not the exclusive preserve of "creative" professionals. But thinking out-of-the-box isn't something you can 'switch off' and 'switch off', what today's professionals need are ways of making lateral thinking a habit. This is what the workshop aims to do. To give insights into how out-of-the-box can be made a habit by everyone, so that they use it to tackle new challenges in new ways.
