

Faculty Development Program
“Curriculum Semester Planning”
18th June 2019

The FDP on “Curriculum Semester Planning” was organized by CMS Business School, Jain (Deemed-to-be University) on 18th June 2019.

The aim of the FDP was to enable the participants to deliver an enhanced learning experience for the students through curriculum semester planning, in alignment with institutional planning.

Inaugural Session

The FDP started with an inaugural session by Director, CMS B-School, Jain (Deemed-to-be University) Dr. Dinesh Nilkant, who extended a warm welcome to the participants and shared his views and insights regarding the emerging challenges in education and the quality parameters of CMS B- School to deliver quality student experience. He asserted the importance of updating curriculum planning and incorporating new ideas and concepts.

In his inimitable style Dr. Nilkant encouraged the faculty members for the upcoming semester in terms of classroom teaching, research initiatives, industry interactions and overall development of the students.

SESSION 1:

Dean, CMS B-School, Jain (Deemed-to-be University) Dr. Harold Patrick addressed the participants and gave several examples of team work and innovative thinking. He ended his talk by motivating the participants to deliver their very best in the upcoming semester.

SESSION 2:

Dean, Executive Education, CMS B-School, Jain (Deemed-to-be University) Dr. N. Chandrasekhar shared his vision about management programs and role of faculty members in explaining the various key concepts of the subject. He also shared many valuable insights from the industry and motivated the participants to deliver mindful and quality education at CMS.

SESSIONS 3 AND 4:

The various area chairs and heads of committees shared their observations and understanding of curriculum planning and the importance of contribution by the faculty members to enhance student learning experience. They emphasized on the need of industry expectations so that curriculum delivery stays industry focused. The feedback from the prior semesters was also used to re-work on certain areas and further strengthen the original curriculum plan.

OUTCOME:

The FDP ended on a high note of optimism and professional resolve to further shape quality education at CMS B-School Jain (Deemed-to-be University). The participants found all the sessions not only informative, but inspiring and stimulating. Several valuable insights related to pedagogy, discipline, online resources and such were shared which were highly actionable and easy-to-implement. The participants also felt that the FDP fostered a greater sense of team spirit amongst them.
