5. Activity Overview:

. The smart library is one that uses smart technologies to offer precise, personalized, and high-quality information resources to virtual users. The smart technologies allow us to remotely control automated doors, lights, self-service kiosks, and public computers in libraries. This allows more people to use the library at times that are convenient for them.

In this context, with the encouragement and support from the management, the Learning Resource Centre, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University) organized a Two-Day national conference on “Smart Libraries” in association with the Karnataka State College Librarians Association (KSCLA) on 10th – 11th March 2023 at Faculty of Management Studies, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University), Bangalore. The conference aims to bring together leading academicians, Librarians, scientists, researchers and students to exchange experiences, discuss research findings, and discuss other aspects of libraries.

Dr. Dinesh Nilkant, Director, CMS Business School, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University) extended his warm welcome to the chief guest, dignitaries, invited speakers and all the learned delegates from different part of India. The Conference was inaugurated by lighting the lamp by the dignitaries on the dais. Dr. Krishnappa, President, Karnataka State College Librarians Association (KSCLA) introduced the chief guest.

The Chief Guest, Shri Basavaraj S. Horatti, Chairman, Government of Karnataka Legislative Council, Government of Karnataka gave the inaugural address. He opened his address by mentioning the importance of smart libraries in today’s digital world. Further, he emphasized and spoke about the role of librarian’s role as a teacher. He suggested that librarians contribute to the society by implementing innovative services and supporting the sustainable development of the libraries in the country.

Prof. Raj Singh, Vice Chancellor, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University), Bangalore spoke on the occasion. He said that the traditional systems are gradually making way for the new technology-based systems in all sectors, including the libraries, paving way for better service.

Dr. N V H Krishnan, Registrar, JAIN (Deemed-to-be University) delivered the presidential address. In his scholarly speech, he illuminated the relevance of smart libraries, particularly in the digitization and open access environments.

Key Note Speaker:

Prof. Sanjay Kataria, Professor and University Librarian, Bennett University (Times Group), Greater Noida, Uttar Pradesh, delivered the key note address, stressing on the widespread use of mobile phones and the internet. He explained what a mobile app is and how Bennett University has used it.
