INTRODUCTION

Finance Interest Group of Finance Area of CMS Business School arranged an Industry Interface for the students of Core Finance on 20th September 2019.

Mr. SoumikBhusan was the industry expert. SoumikBhusan is a Chartered Accountant working as Senior Manager Compliance, in Amazon India, Bengaluru. Here interactive session on the role of finance professionals in regulatory governance for 75minutes.

Session Summary:

Disruptions in ecommerce and regulatory challenges: India's new economy disruptors are currently confronting old-style regulatory disruption, with rules changing or, in some cases, yaw-yawing. At stake are billions of dollars of investments and many potentially game changing ideas. ET takes a look at how regulatory challenges are affecting six new economy activities: online shopping, taxi apps, online pharmacies, online groceries, fintech and startup funding. Compliances in the post GST era: Goods and Service Tax is the best step in India's indirect tax reforms. GST is a path breaking indirect tax regime which creates a national common market. GST was implemented not only to get rid of fallacies of the then indirect tax models but also to improve tax compliances and check black market operations. The post GST era has witnessed numerous errors, mismatches and technical glitches as well as World Bank calling GST a very complex taxation system. Enactments and compliances from various stakeholders' perspectives. Skill expected in the industry. Importance of technology and interdisciplinary knowledge. Opportunities for the finance professionals.

Learning Outcomes:

- Corporate connect for the students
- Sensitization of the regulatory compliances.
- Reinforcement of the need for broader understanding of the value chain of business
- Appreciating the role of technology
