1. Introduction:

A quiz contest is organized as part of FIG activity, which started at 11:15 AM. A total of 27 teams registered for the program, and 21 teams have reported. The coordinators briefed about the number of rounds, the procedure of organizing the quiz event. A written preliminary round is organized with 30 questions in 15 minutes' time. All the teams submitted the filled-in quiz forms by 11:40 AM and then assessment started and concluded by 11:55 AM. At 12:00 Noon, the final round started with five finalists who scored highest in the written round, for whom three rounds were organized with the first round identifying the personality from the image projected and this was a buzzer round. A team that is posed with a question and if they give the right answer, five marks are awarded and if the question is passing-on, then three marks to the other team is awarded. The second round is based on Behavioral Finance and Strategic Cost Management subjects, in which student's subject application skills are tested with five questions each from Behavioral Finance and Strategic Cost Management subjects and this is also a buzzer round. The same mechanism of marks distribution is followed in the second round as well. The third round is a rapid fire round, in which five questions are asked per team that carry five marks for right answer and zero for the wrong and the time given is only one-minute. No passing-on to another team is permitted in this round. All the five teams have participated enthusiastically, scores are revealed to the teams and Area Chair has announced the winner and two runners up teams, followed by prize distribution (Certificates) by Area Chair who was the guest for the program. Organizing committee and coordinators thanked all the members and the program concluded.
